

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Announcing our first art exhibit with artist Kelsey Overstreet at Gallery Lulo entitled "The Other Side of Light"

HEALDSBURG, Calif. (August 1st, 2023) - Gallery Lulo an accomplished art and jewelry gallery for the past 15 years located in Healdsburg's charming downtown, is thrilled to announce its first art exhibit with Kelsey Overstreet, a multi media artist located in San Diego.

The exhibit features 12 larger and smaller scale paintings in acrylics, pigment and textile embroidery. The works are inspired by the beauty of light formations as it exists in the natural world and the marks its presence leaves on the mind. It runs from August 5th - October 7th 2023.

"We are thrilled to be showing Kelsey Overstreet's collection of paintings, specifically created around the idea of light and presence. We are grateful to be representing a female artist in the midst of her thriving career and support her brilliant exploration of ideas in painting and mixed media", says owner Anne-Kathrine Schjerbeck.

"Slow down, and receive the gifts. That's what I've learned recently. By immersing myself in the present moment, I've discovered a world of beauty that just wants to be enjoyed. Working outside, I find delight in the shadows and the new meditative marks of embroidery. It's a metaphor for rest and presence—a reminder to appreciate the subtle wonders around us. In this journey, may we discover the artistry of nature, the soothing solace of shadows, and the meditative joy of slowing down long enough to receive the gifts surrounding us. Let us find respite in these moments, for it is here that we truly come alive.", says artist Kelsey Overstreet.

Kelsey lives and works in San Diego. She received her MFA in 2018. She says of her work, process, and inspirations: "My multi-media abstract paintings are blueprints: a visual reference for the structure of the human experience. This structure is divided into three rooms: the body, sensory experience, and thoughts and feelings.
